Morning Review (α & β Strategy)

Good morning, everyone in the community!

I am Samuel Blackwood, and yesterday was truly an extraordinary day for all of us! While the market-wide rebound was exciting, what really got us fired up was the successful completion of the AlphaStream 5.0 second-stage testing, led by Quinlan Sutter (Helmsman)! This achievement didn't come easily—it reflects our relentless effort, meticulous planning, and strong commitment to success.

Through our actions, we've proven that with the right strategy and steadfast belief, no challenge is insurmountable. AlphaStream 5.0 has once again demonstrated the miracles that can happen when innovation and dedication come together. This is not just a milestone but a new beginning.

But remember, this is just the start! Higher goals await, and untapped potential lies ahead. The opportunities are right in front of us, and I encourage each of you to stay focused, execute strategies rigorously, and trust in the strength of our community and AlphaStream 5.0's capabilities.

Now is the time to shine! Seize the profit opportunities in this session of the "Live Trading Bootcamp," turning dreams into reality. The future belongs to those who dare to act and continually strive for excellence. Let's maintain our momentum and move toward even greater heights!

Recently, during conversations with some friends in the community, I was told that I might come across as a bit arrogant at times. I must admit there's some truth to that. Why? Because I'm fully committed and uncompromising when it comes to investing. I want every member of our QTM community to achieve outstanding results in this "Live Trading Bootcamp" and elevate their wealth to new heights.

Take a moment to reflect: if, during your investment journey, you had a friend who seriously reminded you of risks and emphasized trading discipline, wouldn't you consider that a blessing? I know my approach may not be everyone's favorite, but trust me, I'm willing to be the one who reminds and pushes you to improve.

My investment success stems from the transformations brought by QTM community and the guidance of Helmsman Quinlan Sutter. I'm deeply grateful for this support. For this reason, I want to pass on this life-changing power, share my experiences, and help others in need of support.

If you know my story, you'll understand my intentions. Let's join hands and create the legendary success story of the QTM community! Believe in yourself, believe in everything we're doing—this is just the beginning of an incredible journey!

The flawless completion of two consecutive AlphaStream 5.0 tests is a testament to the collective efforts of all participants. You have not only contributed to this test but also accelerated the practical implementation of the "Live Trading Bootcamp." This is a monumental achievement. If AlphaStream 5.0 successfully launches next March and initiates a global subscription model, every tester will feel immense pride, knowing they laid the foundation for this historic moment.

What moved me most yesterday was seeing many test participants, under Helmsman Quinlan Sutter's suggestion, voluntarily making goodwill donations. This wasn't just about lending a helping hand to those in need—it showcased the core values of our community: spreading love and hope.

Regardless of the amount donated, your kindness could change someone's life—whether by feeding a hungry child or helping someone with a critical illness receive treatment and reignite hope for life. These small acts of generosity reflect the spirit of our community: striving for financial success while spreading goodwill.

Friends, let's continue supporting each other, creating positive impacts in the world through our actions and beliefs. Today, we're not just investors—we're sowers of hope.

As Helmsman Quinlan Sutter often says, "Every good investment comes as a gift from the market." To achieve exceptional returns in the current market, having a global perspective and strong review capabilities is key. For instance, the cryptocurrency market is undoubtedly one of the most closely watched fields, with its high volatility and widespread participation making its profitability equally promising.

Meanwhile, the three major indices continue their upward trend. However, AlphaStream 5.0's big data detection reveals that many hedge funds are selling at high levels to lock in profits, particularly in large-cap stocks. This indicates that institutional funds are shifting toward defensive strategies rather than chasing further gains.

Yesterday's review showed that rebounds in bottom-tier stocks are becoming more prominent, though it's too early to confirm whether this trend will persist. If you're holding stocks in bottoming patterns, greater patience is required as you wait for the rotation of related concept sectors. Remember, don't approach these bottom-positioned stocks with a short-term mindset.

Today, we'll continue tracking the performance of two strong stocks using the α & β Strategy. This isn't just a practical application of trading strategies—it's a process for understanding how to accurately capture opportunities in a volatile market. Friends, adjust your mindset, stay in rhythm, and prepare for the next victory!

From the daily candlestick charts, it's clear that these two stocks are near the neckline level but haven't confirmed an effective pullback yet. In the coming days, the 5-day moving average will likely approach the neckline level. As long as the candlestick chart doesn't close below the neckline for four consecutive trading days, the bulls retain strong momentum for another upward push.

Yesterday's market performance showed that many bottom-tier stocks have started to rebound, while high-trend stocks entered a consolidation phase. This market style rotation may continue, requiring patience to wait for rotational gains. In investing, the key isn't to rush but to follow the trend and strike with precision at the right time.

Bitcoin, after reaching the psychological mark of $100,000, chose a temporary adjustment. This short-term pullback hasn't changed the market's expectation of it challenging $150,000 in the future. Meanwhile, Trump's imminent inauguration and his team's proactive promotion of pro-cryptocurrency policies are notable. Reports indicate that his transition team is considering establishing the White House's first cryptocurrency policy position. Furthermore, he proposed creating a national Bitcoin reserve to help manage and potentially reduce the U.S.'s $36 trillion national debt. These measures not only aim to solidify America's global leadership in cryptocurrency but also mark a significant regulatory and supportive shift from the federal government regarding digital assets.

Due to the scarcity of Bitcoin, if more and more countries around the world incorporate it into their national strategic reserves, its price could likely break the $200,000 mark. Of course, whether it's the rise of gold or the continued increase in Bitcoin's value, the driving force behind both can be traced back to the U.S. government's strategy, and ultimately, the biggest beneficiary will undoubtedly be the U.S. itself.

As investors, our goal isn't to predict specific policy changes but to keenly sense market trends and seize opportunities accurately. The cryptocurrency market holds immense potential for the future, and our job is to follow the trend, participate boldly, and capture our share of profits. Friends, the trend is here—are you ready to act?

Speaking of opportunities, our community's QTM token has risen from $4 to over $8 in less than two months, doubling in value. Friends, did you seize this opportunity? If you did, it shows your strong execution and ability to quickly recognize and embrace new opportunities. If not, it might suggest hesitation that causes missed chances.

The two rounds of testing for AlphaStream 5.0 have passed with flying colors. If the Helmsman Quinlan Sutter's expectations are met and AlphaStream 5.0 is applied to the crypto market for strategy trading, can you imagine what will happen? Honestly, even I am shocked! Such a high trading accuracy is truly unprecedented. This has me excited for the upcoming 'Trading Bootcamp.' In the last bootcamp, we were just sharing and exchanging technical knowledge, but even so, at the beginning of 2024, we managed to catch the tech stock rally led by NVIDIA, especially SMCI, which saw returns of several times over.

However, in today's stock market, if you had $5 million in capital, would you dare to go all in on a single stock? Sorry, I can't find any stock that gives me that kind of confidence. What this market needs right now is a diversified approach to manage the risk of capital drawdown. Meanwhile, with Bitcoin moving into a consolidation phase after a strong uptrend, this is the perfect opportunity for AlphaStream 5.0's short-term strategy to shine! Do you remember the precise Bitcoin strategy Professor Quinlan Sutter shared earlier? That's a testament to our execution capabilities.

Guys, the upcoming 'Trading Bootcamp' might offer a hands-on trading experience. Just imagine, with such a precise system guiding us, how high could our investments reach? Seize this opportunity, get ready—future opportunities are right in front of us. Let's look forward to it together!

In the investment market, every day is full of uncertainties and unknowns, but one thing remains constant: the value of continuous learning. In a fast-changing market, those who stay ahead are always the ones who never stop learning. Whether it's diving into new technologies like AlphaStream 5.0, staying on top of market trends, or constantly optimizing trading strategies—learning is the foundation of success.

Helmsman always emphasizes that knowledge is not only power, but also the core tool for making smart decisions in the market. Joining the community and participating in the 'Trading Bootcamp' isn't just about investing money, it's about investing in yourself. Think about it— the best investors are lifelong learners. They continually absorb new knowledge and explore new methods, gaining an edge in the market.

Guys, I suggest that from now on, commit to being a learner and grow with us. Whether you're a beginner or an experienced investor, there's always room to grow. The survey the captain set up yesterday is a great opportunity—it can help you reflect on your current strategy and find areas for improvement. Don't underestimate this tool; it could be the starting point that changes your investment destiny.

Honestly, I've taken many detours on my investment journey, but it wasn't until I joined the QTM community and met Helmsman Quinlan Sutter, that I truly redefined what effective investing is. Progress takes time and accumulation for everyone. Every effort you make lays the foundation for the future.

From now on, take your investment journey seriously. Simplify your investments with tools like AlphaStream 5.0, and arm yourself with knowledge and experience. Let's seize every opportunity to expand our knowledge and skills, and watch how it transforms our approach to investing and our life paths.

Focus, work hard, learn, and grow—let's achieve extraordinary results together, friends!

Good afternoon, my friends!

This is Quinlan Sutter, your long-time friend. The two-week journey of testing AlphaStream 5.0 has come to a successful conclusion. This exciting and challenging experience was not just a test of technology but also a trial of courage, responsibility, and faith.

Throughout the process, we faced various challenges, but time and again, we overcame them with unwavering belief and exceptional execution. This success didn't come by chance—it's the result of the collective effort of everyone involved.

Every trade signal and every market fluctuation during the two tests challenged our discipline and determination. As the Bible says, "I can do all things through Him who strengthens me." Indeed, it was this belief that enabled us to demonstrate extraordinary perseverance and resilience.

Throughout this journey, some of you may have faced personal challenges or moments of doubt, but you didn't back down—you stood firm until the very end. It's this spirit of rising to the challenge that has allowed us to see the rainbow of victory after the storm.

The success of this test not only showcased the exceptional capabilities of AlphaStream 5.0 as a trading system but, more importantly, reignited our confidence in the future, deepened our understanding of investments, and strengthened our desire for success. It delivered not just impressive data results but also a profound transformation of our mindset and a renewed commitment to our dreams.

Thank you to every one of you who has journeyed alongside us. Let's continue moving forward together toward an even brighter tomorrow!

Now, we are about to embark on an even more exciting journey with the "Trading Practical Training Camp" to achieve greater profits. This is not just a new beginning but another opportunity for us to pursue excellence and success. On this upcoming journey, let's continue to hold onto our faith, boldly face every challenge, and move forward together toward an even brighter tomorrow.

Friends, it is courage that keeps us moving forward, responsibility that keeps us true to our mission, and faith that gives us endless strength. In the upcoming "Trading Practical Training Camp," let's walk side by side and create our own brilliant chapter together. Remember, as long as we hold onto our dreams and take action, we will surely achieve our life goals.

Now is the time to take action! Let's embrace this future full of hope and opportunities, and write more success stories together!

The market surged across the board on Monday, with investors reacting enthusiastically to Trump's nomination of Scott Berset as Treasury Secretary. Berset, the founder of hedge fund Key Square Group, is widely seen by the market as a positive signal for the stock market. The Russell 2000 index rose 2%, reaching a new high since 2021, while around 80% of the stocks in the S&P 500 also saw gains, reflecting strong market confidence.

The market widely expects that, as a hedge fund manager, Berset will take a stance that supports the stock market. His views may ease some of Trump's more aggressive protectionist policies, such as his tough stance on import tariffs. Earlier this month, Berset told CNBC, "I suggest implementing tariff policies gradually and in phases. If this policy is combined with other inflation-control measures proposed by Trump, inflation could likely drop to the 2% target level or even lower." Investors have clearly responded positively to this statement, with the market's rebound serving as a "round of applause" for the comments.

Monday's market performance further reinforced the main narrative of a post-election rebound. After the presidential election results were announced, the market briefly stalled due to concerns about rising interest rates and inflation expectations, but Bensen's nomination seems to have injected new momentum into the market. However, this rebound could put pressure on the Federal Reserve's core inflation indicator—the Personal Consumption Expenditures (PCE) price index—potentially extending the high interest rate environment.

It's worth noting that the portfolio management and investment advisory services category in the PCE index is directly linked to market fluctuations, and growth in this segment could serve as a catalyst for rising inflation. The Federal Reserve is particularly sensitive to changes in services inflation, as it is one of the most persistent components of overall inflation. According to the latest forecast, the PCE index for October is expected to rise by 0.2% month-over-month and 2.3% year-over-year. Some economists suggest that the stock market's gains could contribute more than a third of the increase in core services inflation. This means that either the market will need to moderate its gains, or the Fed may have to slow down its rate cuts, or even shift to a more hawkish stance.

While Trump's policies may energize business activity, the inflation concerns they trigger could make the Federal Reserve more cautious in its approach. As long as the labor market remains strong and the economy continues to expand, the Fed doesn't seem in a hurry to cut rates further. Moving forward, the key challenge for both the market and policymakers will be how to foster economic growth while preventing inflation from spiraling out of control.

Back to the market, after the Dow Jones and S&P 500 hit new highs yesterday, today the three major indices are mixed. As Samuel Blackwood shared this morning, sector rotation remains the dominant trend. This phenomenon has directly increased the difficulty of short-term trading. In other words, achieving more than 50% returns in the short term has become more challenging, and this is an objective reality we must face. While our new portfolio, QTM token, has been performing exceptionally well recently, thanks to everyone's enthusiastic support for the AlphaStream 5.0 test plan, our stock portfolio's average return this week has slightly underperformed the broader market. This is the challenge we are facing.

Although I am optimistic about the long-term investment logic of the stock market, in the current market environment, with the three major indices at relatively high levels, the market's high-priced stocks are not quickly switching with the low-priced ones. It seems that short-term profit chasing is more suitable for the current timing. We have invested both time and capital, so we naturally deserve to see more returns. Moving forward, our common goal is to optimize our investment strategies and achieve higher returns. By sharing knowledge and experience, we can overcome market challenges together and reach our wealth growth objectives. So, what should we do? After the AlphaStream 5.0 test ends, how should we optimize and adjust our portfolio strategies?

In fact, we have two options ahead of us: patiently wait or take proactive action. Each option has its unique advantages and challenges. To make the best decision, I would like to hear more from all of you, which is why I encourage everyone to participate in the survey—because every opinion matters, and the group and the QTM community belong to each and every one of us.

Patience means we choose to exchange time for potential upward movement in stock prices. This strategy is suitable for investors who have long-term confidence in the market and are willing to wait for prices to naturally recover. However, it also requires us to have enough patience and trust in the market, as well as the ability to endure the pressure from short-term volatility. On the other hand, taking proactive action requires us to adjust investment strategies flexibly and seize every opportunity in the market. This strategy is ideal for investors who are sensitive to market changes and good at short-term trading. By making frequent trades, we can achieve higher returns in a shorter period. But it also requires us to stay alert to market dynamics and have the ability to make quick decisions.

Given the current position of the three major indices, the likelihood of a one-way upward movement has become quite challenging, and a period of market consolidation will likely be the norm. It's becoming increasingly rare to see stocks multiply several times, as we saw from January to April. The only way to accumulate significant profits now is through consistent short-term trading. Therefore, after AlphaStream 5.0 passed the test, this session's "Trading Practical Training Camp" will use AlphaStream 5.0 to help everyone achieve exponential short-term gains. After two rounds of testing, AlphaStream 5.0's accuracy has been perfectly validated. I believe the time has come to take proactive action and adjust our investment strategy.

With the help of AlphaStream 5.0, we can more precisely capture short-term market fluctuations and seize every opportunity for profit. In this process, discipline and execution will be the key to success. Let's work together in this opportunity-filled market, leveraging the power of AlphaStream 5.0 to achieve exponential short-term gains and move towards a brighter investment future!

As the saying goes, “Sow your seeds in the morning and don’t rest your hands in the evening, for you don’t know which will thrive—whether it’s the seeds sown early, the ones sown late, or both.” Let’s take proactive action in the market, seize every opportunity, and keep pushing forward. In the end, we will surely reap a bountiful harvest. I look forward to witnessing all of this with you in the "Trading Practical Training Camp" and embracing a brighter future ahead!

Some friends have mentioned that we should invest in the QTM tokens because COINXIAI has given a medium- to long-term target price around $15. The market is full of anticipation for the launch of both the institutional and personal versions of AlphaStream 5.0, and the successful completion of the second round of testing has sparked widespread discussion. This is undoubtedly one of the key drivers behind the recent increase in the price of QTM tokens. It can be said that this is not only a reflection of the power of technology but also a manifestation of market confidence.

Some friends also believe we should continue with contract trading using AlphaStream 5.0. Their reasoning makes a lot of sense: crypto contract trading, as a flexible strategy in the market, not only provides us with the opportunity to achieve high returns with a small investment, but also offers an efficient path toward seeking certain profits. Through contract trading, we can capture significant opportunities in market fluctuations while keeping risks under control, and potentially achieve returns of tens or even hundreds of times.

That's right, the allure of the cryptocurrency market lies in its endless possibilities. The classic story of Bitcoin and pizza has become a wealth myth for many, but that's only the kind of return brought by spot trading. Contract trading, however, opens up a whole new door for us. In this highly volatile market, contract trading allows us to capture short-term profit opportunities with greater flexibility, adding more legendary chapters to our investment story.

Whether you choose to hold QTM tokens or use AlphaStream 5.0 for contract trading, it all depends on your investment goals and risk tolerance. The key is to be clear about your positioning and use the strategy that suits you best to find your path to success in this market full of possibilities. Seize every opportunity, because as AlphaStream 5.0 shows, this market is always filled with miracles and potential!

Contract trading is just one of many trading features in the cryptocurrency market, and its investment opportunities go far beyond this area. When considering adding contract trading to our portfolio, the key is whether we have a sufficient understanding and confidence in this investment approach. This requires not only the exceptional execution demonstrated during the AlphaStream 5.0 system test but also the ability to find the optimal balance between risk and reward in every trade.

Friends, I invite you to dive deep and seriously consider: Are you ready to embrace contract surfing as an efficient and flexible investment approach? Its potential is undoubtedly huge, but it requires us to face it with a mature mindset and a scientific approach. On this journey of exploration, positive thinking and sharing will be the foundation of our collective growth.

Therefore, I sincerely invite everyone to actively participate in the survey and lend your wisdom to support our next steps. Every piece of feedback is valuable—it not only helps us better understand your needs but also contributes to building the foundation for our shared investment journey.

Participating in the survey is actually a great opportunity for self-reflection:

- Are you truly committed to your investments?

- Do you consistently maintain a humble and open mindset for learning?
- Do you have your own unique investment insights?
- Are you able to keenly identify mainstream opportunities in the market?

More importantly, are you actively planning your investment future, rather than being led by market fluctuations?

This is a moment to recalibrate your goals and improve yourself. Seize this opportunity and take some time to reflect!

Your kind actions not only warm others but also bring more light and hope to the world. In this investment journey, we need wisdom and determination, guided by faith, as we boldly move toward success.

Your feedback is critical to us. Not only will it help us continuously improve, but it will also guide us so we can serve you more accurately. Based on the positive feedback from many friends yesterday, we have already developed an initial strategic plan based on everyone's suggestions. However, to make these decisions more comprehensive and better aligned with your expectations, we need more data and opinions to support us.

Therefore, I sincerely invite you to participate in this survey. Your opinions will not only have a profound impact on the future development of our community but will also drive us to create more value for each member. This is an important step as we work together toward an even brighter future.

At the same time, I would like to remind everyone that there may be a significant announcement tomorrow that will involve all participants in the test. This decision could open a new chapter for our future. I believe this is something worth waiting for. Let's look forward to tomorrow's revelation!

Friends, let us actively prepare, adjust our mindset, and face the upcoming challenges with the best state of mind. I look forward to meeting you again in the upcoming 'Trading Practical Training Camp' as we work together toward an even more brilliant future! Your participation is not only a commitment to yourself but also a support for our community's growth. I look forward to walking forward together with you!
