Morning Review (α & β Strategy)

Sharing Topics:

- 1. M2 money supply declines over 2% year-over-year for the first time: Is an economic and stock market storm imminent?
- 2. AlphaStream 5.0 Millionaire Club: Exciting 300% profit plan launches this December.

Good morning, my friends!

I'm Quinlan Sutter, your long-time companion. A new week has begun, and looking back on last week's performance, are you satisfied with your results? In this ever-changing market, opportunities are fleeting, and our choices often determine the final outcome. When opportunities arise, we must act swiftly and decisively.

Last week's 7-day 80% profit challenge was just the beginning—there are even more opportunities ahead. The key, however, lies in your choice: will you seize the opportunity and boldly face the challenge, or will you continue to hesitate and let the chance slip away?

Every opportunity is a critical milestone in achieving your goals, and every choice could become a turning point for your success. As Ecclesiastes says, "Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with all your might." Today, as we stand at the start of a new week, I hope you will remember the value of opportunities and the importance of making the right choices. Let's take action together, make the right decisions, embrace more opportunities, and achieve greater returns!

To be honest, before the launch of the Millionaire Club's million-dollar profit plan, I felt a bit uneasy. The stock market's high-level fluctuations, limited room for movement, and the inability to use leverage made earning a million dollars in such conditions a daunting challenge. It not only risks wasting time but also increases capital costs. However, with the addition of AlphaStream 5.0, everything changed.

In the crypto market, its trading signal accuracy reached an astounding 100%. While the daily signals are limited, each one is flawlessly precise. By fully capitalizing on them, we've managed to achieve considerable returns. This has filled me with confidence for this practical plan, and I believe the goal of the million-dollar profit journey can be fully realized within this month.

It's worth celebrating that through last week's 7-day 80% profit challenge, we've already secured a portion of AlphaStream 5.0's presale allocation. Although the annual subscription fee for the personal edition is as high as $150,000, it hasn't dampened everyone's enthusiasm. Many friends have already reserved their systems in advance.

If you achieved good returns in last week's trades, why not share your experience with your fellow investors? Just be sure to provide honest feedback. I believe that word-of-mouth based on real results will far exceed the effectiveness of millions of dollars spent on advertising.

Furthermore, March next year will be a milestone for our QTM community. Our community charitable foundation is set to officially launch in March 2025. At that time, I will personally donate $20 million as the initial operating fund.

We also hope that those who complete the profit plan will actively participate in contributing to this initiative. This is not only a part of achieving financial freedom but also our responsibility and honor to give back to society and spread kindness.

The Million-Dollar Profit Plan is not just a tool for our personal wealth growth; it embodies the vision of fulfilling our QTM community's mission—cultivating loyal users of AlphaStream 5.0 while using our success to help those in need. This is our shared responsibility and our collective pride.

Friends, now is the time to act! Join us and become part of this extraordinary journey. With the guidance of AlphaStream 5.0, we can not only achieve financial freedom but also contribute to charitable causes. This is a path filled with hope and compassion—let's walk it together and create a legendary story that's truly ours!

Are you ready? Let's prove our determination and strength through action, striving for our dreams and a brighter tomorrow!

As shown in the chart, last week's non-farm payroll data provided some positive factors for the stock market, but the Dow Jones Industrial Average has already shown initial signs of adjustment. Meanwhile, the Nasdaq and S&P 500 have left a gap from November 6 below, which still needs to be filled. From a technical perspective, the current market pattern suggests that a correction could occur at any time.

However, relying solely on technical patterns is not sufficient to fully determine market direction. The true key lies in combining changes in fundamental economic data with projections of time cycles. This integrated analysis can provide more valuable and precise market insights, enabling us to better identify future trading opportunities. Investing requires not only vision but also wisdom. Let's use strategy and action to navigate the next phase of market dynamics.

Moody's Analytics has warned that the U.S. stock market is facing significant correction risks, primarily due to elevated asset prices and the emergence of two major potential threats in the market next year.

1. Overvalued Asset Risks:

The current asset prices—including stocks, real estate, and gold—have far exceeded the levels supported by economic fundamentals. This overvaluation poses significant downside risks, potentially triggering a deep correction followed by a sustained decline in prices.

2. Potential Impact of Tariff Policies:

Trump has proposed imposing high tariffs on goods from multiple countries. Economists are concerned that this could drive up prices, trigger inflation, and force the Federal Reserve to raise interest rates. While Trump denies that his policies will cause inflation, Moody's believes that this round of tariffs is broader in scope and has a greater potential impact.

3. Economic Impact of Mass Deportation of Immigrants:

Trump's plan to deport nearly 12 million immigrants could severely impact industries reliant on immigrant labor, such as construction and agriculture. Labor shortages may force businesses to raise wages, further intensifying inflationary pressure and making it more challenging for the Federal Reserve to lower interest rates.

Despite these potential risks, the market as a whole is expected to stabilize over the next three to five years, with corporate earnings anticipated to grow by 4% to 6%. However, as market investors, we must be prepared for possible market fluctuations in the face of high valuations and policy uncertainties.

Moody's Analytics' latest warning has once again drawn market attention: the M2 money supply has declined year-over-year by at least 2% for the first time, an extremely rare occurrence in history. According to the Federal Reserve's latest report, the total M2 supply in October 2024 stood at $21.311 trillion, down

1.89% from its peak in April 2022. The last time such a decline occurred was during the Great Depression in 1933.

Let's put the data into historical context: over the past 150 years, year-over-year declines in M2 exceeding 2% have occurred only five times (1878, 1893, 1921, 1931–1933, and 2023). These periods were almost always accompanied by economic recessions and surging unemployment rates. While today's Federal Reserve and government have more advanced policy tools than a century ago, the decline in M2 undeniably pressures the economy, especially against the backdrop of weakened consumer spending power.

It is crucial to recognize the economic implications of a decline in M2. A reduction in money supply indicates decreased liquidity in the market, potentially leading consumers to reduce discretionary spending—often a precursor to economic recession. While recessions are an inevitable part of economic cycles, historical data show that most recessions are relatively short-lived and are quickly followed by periods of economic expansion.

For investors, the current market is not a cause for panic but a reminder to remain calm and vigilant. Economic cycles are never linear; they alternate between adjustments and growth. Each market correction, in fact, carries the seeds of new opportunities. Periods of pullback are the best times for investors to reassess strategies, optimize portfolios, and uncover new value.

While the decline in M2 money supply may present short-term challenges, historical experience shows that periods of economic expansion last far longer than recessions. This is the essence of investing: finding certainty within uncertainty, seizing opportunities with a long-term perspective, and preparing for future growth.

So, how can we, as investors, seize opportunities with certainty amid the current stock market uncertainties? My advice is clear:

- 1. Manage equity positions cautiously. With the stock market experiencing high-level fluctuations and institutional funds gradually exiting as the year-end approaches, this is not the time for aggressive buying. I recommend keeping stock positions strictly below 50% to mitigate the potential risk of a high-level correction.
- 2. Allocate idle funds to the more predictable crypto market. Capital should flow into areas with greater profit potential. The crypto market currently represents the most certain opportunity, with volatility and growth potential far exceeding traditional markets. Money never sleeps, and the key to seizing opportunities is keeping your capital in constant motion.

Here's a "secret to keeping your wealth in motion" that I'd like to share: if you cannot or are unwilling to use leverage in a particular market, it often indicates that opportunities in that market are limited. Conversely, markets where leverage can be boldly applied tend to offer greater potential and profit opportunities. Understanding this concept will help you better assess investment directions and select the most suitable strategies, enabling rapid wealth growth.

At present, with institutional investors selling off at market highs, we should follow this trend rather than counter it by making significant purchases at elevated levels. Meanwhile, for quality stocks at the bottom, their base-building phase still requires time, so it's not advisable to allocate excessive capital to them for now.

On the contrary, allocating more funds to the more predictable crypto market can not only effectively diversify risk but also potentially yield higher returns. Friends, the essence of investing lies in recognizing trends and aligning with them. Now is the perfect time to optimize your capital allocation and seize opportunities in the crypto market. Let's use wisdom and action to ride this wave of wealth and embrace even greater success!

In recent conversations with some friends, I noticed that a small number of people are somewhat pessimistic about the stock market's outlook and feel uncertain about how to seize opportunities with certainty. However, from the moment the "Crypto President" returned, the opportunities have been clearly laid out before us. Whether it's the biggest beneficiary—Elon Musk—or those steadfastly bullish on Bitcoin, they've already reaped substantial rewards.

One of the world's most prestigious media outlets, "The Financial Times", recently issued a rare public apology to its readers, admitting that its years of negative reporting on Bitcoin caused many readers to miss life-changing opportunities. This is not just a shift in the media's stance but also a signal: the future will see an increasing influx of institutional and individual investors into the crypto market.

Recently, Ken Sim, the Chinese-Canadian mayor of Vancouver, British Columbia, publicly stated that he has been fully captivated by the "Orange Pill," a symbolic representation of Bitcoin and a hallmark of Bitcoin believers. Ken Sim explicitly declared that it would be irresponsible for Vancouver not to include Bitcoin as a strategic reserve asset. He even boldly stated, "I believe Bitcoin is the greatest invention in human history." This statement not only reflects his stance but also signifies a strong endorsement of the crypto market's future.

Through AlphaStream 5.0's trading data monitoring, we can clearly observe the increasing volatility of native tokens in the market, which is one of the key reasons behind the successful completion of our profit plan. After an in-depth analysis of various market data—from capturing the pulse of the market, to a comprehensive evaluation of recent trading results, and the insights gained from the “Exciting December 80% Profit Plan”—I've uncovered some truly inspiring revelations.

I am deeply moved by everyone's passion for learning, steadfast commitment to their goals, and continuous dedication to investing, which have truly demonstrated extraordinary potential. While there is still room for growth, this collective performance has not only met my expectations but even surpassed them, paving the way for a historic breakthrough. This positive mindset and drive for success are the most valuable assets of our community and the motivation that propels us forward.

According to the helmsman's plan, this time the goal is to increase profits to 300%, building on last week's 140.5% total asset return. But to be honest, the captain's target still feels a bit too conservative.

This Wednesday's CPI data and Thursday's initial jobless claims figures are expected to bring significant market volatility, making this profit target entirely achievable. While the captain's caution is well-founded, we also need to seize every opportunity and boldly aim for even greater returns!

The AlphaStream 5.0 'Millionaire Club' carries the dreams of countless individuals, and every trade must be approached with care. Only through diligence and unwavering commitment can we move closer to our goals. What we pursue is not just profits but the financial freedom of every individual!

Folks, now is the time to show determination and courage, make every trade count! The helmsman has already prepared a detailed strategy, and as long as we stay confident and execute boldly, the profits will flow in abundantly.

Success belongs to those who dare to take action! Act now and join the 'Passion December 300% Profit Challenge.' Experience the true thrill of investing and embrace the glorious moment that's meant for you!

Folks, this morning's analysis from the Helmsman was truly eye opening! He provided an in-depth examination of the risks facing the current stock market and the strategies to tackle them. This not only demonstrated his exceptional ability to see the big picture but also showed us how to find our footing in a turbulent market.

From Moody's warnings to a 2% year over year decline in M2 money supply, the signals are clear: uncertainty in the domestic economy is intensifying, and the stock market may face correction risks. The earnings outlook for the Magnificent Seven in the U.S. market further dampens bullish sentiment. According to forecasts, the combined profits of Alphabet, Amazon, Apple, Meta, Microsoft, NVIDIA, and Tesla are expected to grow by only 18% in 2025, a significant slowdown compared to 34% in 2024. Excluding NVIDIA, the largest beneficiary in the AI sector, the remaining six are projected to see profit growth of just 3%.

What does this mean? Simply put, these tech giants are gradually losing their position as the benchmark for market growth. Meanwhile, the S&P 500's profit growth is projected at 13%, up from 10% this year, indicating that the market's growth momentum is shifting toward other sectors.

According to AlphaStream 5.0 data, in the week ending December 4, the IT sector experienced its largest outflow in six weeks, $1.4 billion, while small-cap stocks attracted $4.6 billion in inflows. This shift in capital flow clearly highlights a trend: investors are exploring new opportunities, with sectors like energy and biotechnology emerging as hotspots.

Helmsman's strategy has once again proven his foresight. For instance, his early positioning in CELH and SMCI delivered outstanding performance during the oversold rebound. This precise stock selection and execution not only highlight the strength of the strategy but also give us a decisive edge in navigating a corrective market.

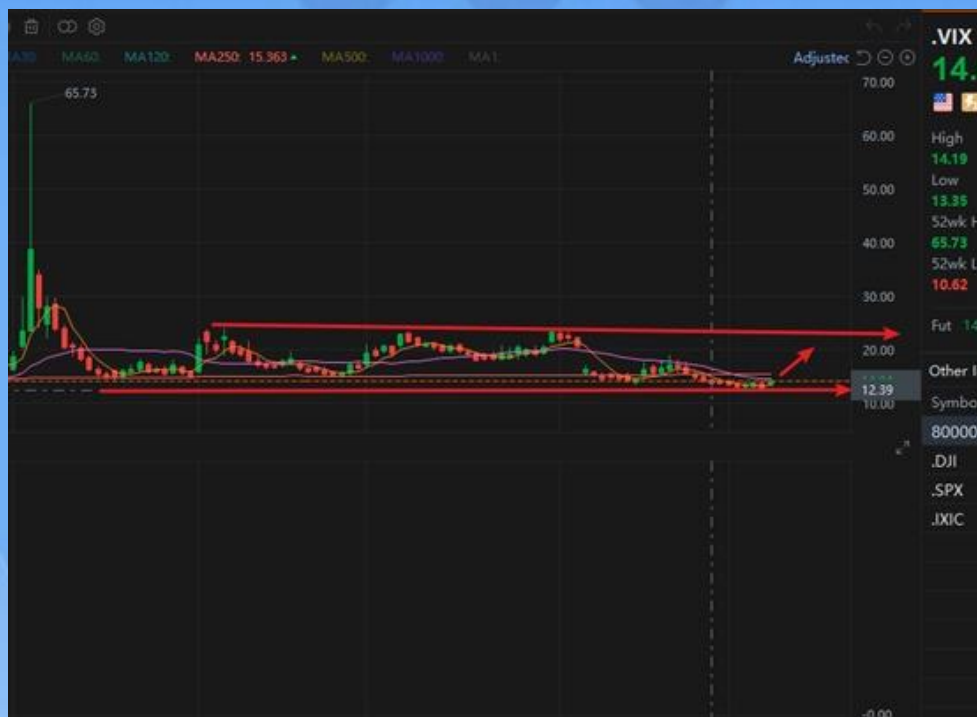

Folks, this analysis isn't just an adjustment in investment strategy; it's a precise grasp of the market's pulse. Under the Helmsman's guidance, we're not only able to find our footing in a complex market but also seize every profit opportunity to maximize returns. This is exactly the combination of macro-level vision and detailed strategy we need most on our investment journey.

QTM COMMUNITY

Folks, let's take a closer look at the current situation through the charts. Our earlier α & β long strategies tracking KEYS and VIST, while not continuing their previous strong upward momentum, have remained in a high-level consolidation phase overall. It's important to note that the bullish trend hasn't changed, but this kind of consolidation often indicates a lack of explosive potential in the short term.

Meanwhile, the VIX market volatility index has been consolidating at its lows for an extended period. Historical experience tells us that such conditions often signal an imminent sharp rebound. Such a rebound is typically accompanied by an increasing risk of stock market corrections.

Considering these factors, I recommend adopting a more flexible strategy to maximize returns. If you've already secured profits in KEYS and VIST, sell decisively and reallocate those funds into the "Passion December 300% Profit Challenge." This presents a clear and compelling profit opportunity. In a market like this, the efficient use of capital is the key to success.

Why take this approach?

Because capital must never hesitate when faced with a clear opportunity. Delays only lead to missing the moments that can truly transform your account's assets. Seizing opportunities and executing decisively is the best way to respect both the market and yourself.

Folks, the market moves fast, and opportunities move even faster. Adjust your strategy today and join the 300% Profit Challenge to unlock greater potential for your capital. This isn't just a better choice, it's an opportunity to showcase your decisiveness. Let's seize this wave and continue building toward a brilliant December!

Folks, please note that we just missed a downtrend in CBF/USDT. Later, we can take advantage of the opportunity following its rebound. I'll be sharing contract trading signals in this group, so stay prepared.

Trading Signal:

- Contract: CBF/USDT
- Leverage: 100X
- Order Type: Market Order
- Position: 10%
- Direction: Sell/Short

Please strictly follow this trading signal. After closing this trade, please send your trading process (e.g., screenshots) to this group for review.

Guys, let me tell you a secret—what we just did was just the tip of the iceberg with the α & β strategy! Today, the entire crypto market is focused on a downward correction, and all we need to do is go with the flow, follow the trend, and we'll confidently seize the opportunity.

These strategies aren't just ordinary techniques! They are the culmination of years of accumulated experience and wisdom, combined with the power of AlphaStream 5.0, evolving into a powerful tool of its own. We followed these quantitative standards strictly today, and what was the result? A smooth 67% profit!

Such returns not only reflect the strength of the strategy but also serve as a perfect validation of our execution. As we all know, the market is full of uncertainties, but as long as we have the right tools and a clear direction, every trade will be a stepping stone toward success!

Don't underestimate this profit point. With reasonable position sizing and a solid strategy, wealth can snowball and grow exponentially. Traders who achieve 10x or even higher annual returns build their success step by step through compounding. This is exactly the path we're following today!

As we navigate the crypto market, reasonable position sizing is the key to victory. Now, share your closed trade results in the group and let the Helmsman's assistant review them. This approach not only ensures more stable wealth growth but also makes the entire process filled with excitement and anticipation.

Let's keep pushing forward, folks! We're striving for even greater goals, and today's strategy is just the prelude, the real highlight is yet to come. This week's 300% Profit Plan is our main course, a luxurious feast of investment opportunities!

So, what's most important right now? Be prepared to face even greater challenges! Let's seize this opportunity and turn it into our profit accelerator. Friends, success belongs to those who act swiftly and give it their all. See you tomorrow, let's continue writing our own legend in the market!
